Captain of Relief Steamer Says Conditions in Odessa Are Terrible and Crime Open

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.)

BALTIMORE, April 7.—A tale of famine, brutality and horror was related by Capt. M. L. Hart of the steamship Deep Water, which returned to this port today from Odessa, Russia. The Deep Water was one of the Russian relief steamers that left here in January. Toward the end of February the vessel reached Odessa and was met at the pier by thousands of children. Virtually unclothed and showing unmistakable evidences of starvation, they stormed aboard, ready to beg for food as unloading of the grain was begun, but only to be driven away by Russian soldiery. Capt. Hart said those who resisted were bayoneted.

(BY CABLE-EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)

PARIS, April 7.—Speeding along in the fog-enveloped air lanes between London and Paris, two passenger-carrying planes crashed head-on in mid-air late this afternoon and plunged to earth in flames, killing six persons and almost destroying a village by fire. The collision occurred at 2 p.m. over the little village of Thionville, St. Antoine, 28 kilometers (17½ miles) from Beauvais, which was the base for the American rear echelons during the battle of Cantigny. A London-bound French plane carrying three passengers, beside the pilot and mechanic, crashed into a Paris-bound English plane carrying, beside its pilot, one passenger and a quantity of freight.

WERE FLYING LOW

The planes were flying hardly 400 feet above the ground when the collision happened. The low flying was caused by the low height of the clouds, which also caused poor visibility. The machines were speeding 100 miles per hour toward one another through the gray banks of clouds when the pilot saw each other. It is believed both tried a quick maneuver to avoid a collision, but it was too late. Both machines were flying over the regularly marked Paris-London air lanes, which are indicated by lines between Paris, Beauvais, Poix, Abbeville, Boulogne, Dover and London. The rule of aerial navigation is that London-bound planes should keep well to the north of this route, particularly when flying in heavy weather, and Paris-bound planes should keep well to the south of the route. The rule is "keep to the right of the course." Passengers witnessing the accident said both planes jammed together and fell to earth in flames. They plunged downward, leaving a trail of black smoke and a cloud of broken gas tanks. The air wrecks crashed on the roof of a small building on the outskirts of the town, which immediately fell.

WINTER WHEAT
CROP SMALLERDecrease Due to Fact Less
Acreage is SownRye Production Will Show
Gain Over Year AgoEstimate Made by Department of Agriculture

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.)
WASHINGTON, April 7.—A winter wheat crop about 14,000,000 bushels smaller, and a rye crop about 12,000,000 bushels larger than was produced last year, was forecast today by the Department of Agriculture. Winter wheat came through the winter in good shape and showed an improvement of 2.4 points in condition April 1 as compared with last December. The smaller crop is due to a reduction of 1.2 per cent in the area sown last fall as compared with that of last year's crop.

Winter wheat production was forecast at 12,747,000 bushels and rye production at 12,667,000 bushels.

The winter forecast compares with 1929-30, when winter wheat was 14,000,000 bushels and rye 12,000,000 bushels.

The rye forecast compares with 1929-30, when rye was 12,000,000 bushels and wheat 14,000,000 bushels.

Winter wheat condition on April 1 showed an increase of 2.4 points since December 1, last, compared with an average decline of 4.7 points in the last ten years between those dates. Winter wheat conditions a year ago was 51.6 per cent of a normal, while the April 1 1929-30 average was 54.3.

LESS ACREAGE SOWN

The area sown to winter wheat last fall was 44,392,900 acres, which was 12 per cent less than the revised area sown in the fall of 1929. The condition of December 1 last was 76.0 per cent, which was 11.9 per cent lower than the previous year and 13 per cent lower than the ten-year average on that date.

In forecasting the production of winter wheat, the Department of Agriculture based its estimate on the assumption of average abandonment of acreage and the influence on the crop from now until time of harvest. The condition of winter wheat on April 1 in the principal producing States:

California, 92; Ohio, 92; Indiana, 90; Illinois, 92; Missouri, 87; Nebraska, 85; Colorado, 87; Oklahoma, 84; Colorado, 87; Washington, 85.

AS OBJECT LESSON TO WORLD

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)
CHICAGO, April 7.—Peaceful relations which have existed between the United States and Canada for more than a century were held up as an object lesson to the world by Gov. Sprout of Pennsylvania speaking before the international mass meeting here tonight.

"Canadians and Americans have shown the world that two great neighbor nations can live side by side in peace without armaments against each other," said Gov. Sprout.

Gov. Sprout's speech was made at the climax of Chicago's celebration of Canada-United States week, held under the direction of the Kiwanis International. Speaking honors on the platform with Gov. Sprout was Premier Ernest C. Drury of Ontario.

Disarmament, prohibition, the four-power treaty and increasing friendliness between the United States and Canada were discussed by the Premier.

Premier Drury spoke enthusiastically of the proposed Great Lakes-St. Lawrence waterway, saying it offered a wonderful opportunity for the promotion of a feeling of partnership between the United States and Canada.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.)
COLUMBUS, April 7.—Establishment of a country-wide employment bureau under the direction of the national secretary of the Migratory Workers' Union, designed to help members establish a fixed place of residence, as well as obtain jobs, is called for in a resolution adopted here today at the national convention of the union.

"This organization represents millions of workers, who, on account of their nomadic life, are deprived of the right to vote," John Kelly, Chicago, national secretary said. "If the men are sent to their jobs from a certain point with the understanding that they are to be furnished transportation back to that point by the employer they may establish their residence there. By doing this, they will take a long step forward in the effort to show society that the transient worker is in reality an important factor in the economic life of the nation, and not an ordinary bum."

The arrangements for the conversation had been made through the radio station at Deal, N. J., and the vessel, the American, was aboard, and expected to reach quarantine tonight.

"Here's hoping that when we get our legislation through," Mr. Lasker replied, "we will have more boats from the America, and all crowded."

Jury Jobless;
Liquor Cases
Swamp Court

After the regular jury and a special venire had been summoned to U. S. District Judge Blodgett's court yesterday to try two cases, one of smuggling and the other for violation of the liquor laws, and it developed that neither could be got ready for the hearing, the court severely criticized the office of U. S. Atty. Burke.

He said the jurors had been summoned at much inconvenience to them and expense to the government, and all to no purpose. He had been led believably that cases were ready, and acted accordingly. Now he found that neither could be tried, and the work of preparation was for naught.

Asst. U. S. Atty. Heron said that the situation was beyond the control of the office, and that the cases had been set in the belief that they would be tried.

Judge Blodgett declared that when such a large number of the population were engaged on the job of trying to beat the liquor laws it was necessary that quick hearings be had and judgments rendered. He stated that he appreciated the situation, and hoped there would be no recurrence.

CONTEST OF CITIES
The Beck case has developed into a contest between two cities. One—Oklahoma City—its plainsmen armed with the unwritten code, is fighting for the honor of a woman's name—Mrs. Jean P. Day.

The second—Lawton—its Army post, is beating back to keep dishonor from the uniform of its officers. Meanwhile, the triple investigation—Army, State and prohibition forces—continued along trails which lead to the killing of Col. Beck by Day, former Supreme Court judge and millionaire oil man.

State authorities sought to keep their findings secret until the coroner's inquest, set for Saturday afternoon, but the military court judge and millionaire oil man.

The Army was less secretive about its course. Headed by Maj. John H. Beck, senior officer of the military court, eight airplanes, carrying Capt. Vernon D. Burns and Roger McCullough, left Lawton for the scene of the shooting on the night of the tragedy. Lieut. John H. Beck, senior officer of the main airman, Lieut. Kenneth Walker, and others, will proceed from Lawton to Oklahoma City Saturday morning. The military men will attend the inquest as witnesses.

"And when the whole truth comes out, Beck's name will be cleared of the dishonor now placed upon him," Maj. Paddock said.

Investigation of various departments of the prison following the escape failed to throw any light on the case. The military court judge and millionaire oil man.

THE OKLAHOMA CODE
The Oklahoma code is as old as the State. An Oklahoma said today that he knew how to protect their homes.

Hughes remained behind locked doors today seeking to unite the tangled threads of the story of the tragedy.

"I understand, is working on the absurd rumor that Atty-Gen. Short of Oklahoma was a member of the party at my home the night of the shooting," he said. "Atty-Gen. Short was not present."

NO LIQUOR SERVED
Day, who was served at his home despite the finding of a small amount of whisky, orange juice and "brew" today.

"We drank near beer, that is all," Day declared.

Hughes promised many surprised to hear that he refused to reveal the nature of the evidence he claims to have found. Hughes was open in his statement that he did not expect the coroner's jury to do anything.

"But I am going to be guided by the law," he said, "the right to file any charges the law and the facts warrant," he said.

Efforts were being made to secure a hearing for the jury to be held in the morning. Coroner A. L. McWilliams has received hundreds of requests for seats for friends of the jury and the jury.

It is expected several thousand curious will seek to gain admittance to the hearing.

LAS VEGAS OFFICIAL RILED
OVER DISAPPEARANCE OF "WHISKY"

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.)
LAS VEGAS (Nev.) April 7.—Dist. Atty. Harmon tonight offered a reward of $500 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person or persons who removed what was said to be whisky from four half-gallon bottles held in a Justice Court for evidence, and substituted cold tea.

The purported whisky was taken in a raid when Mr. and Mrs. Fred Halverson, lessee of a Las Vegas hotel, were arrested on a charge of violating the Volstead Act.

The liquid was to have been produced as evidence in a preliminary hearing today, but Henry M. Lillis, justice of the peace, discovered the substitution. The discovery resulted in a continuance of the hearing until Monday.

"I am astounded, as all good and law-abiding citizens must be, at the brazen and audacious attempt shown by the guilty party or parties, for law and order and the integrity of courts," said Dist. Atty. Harmon.

land in the French machine; M. Bourgeois, another passenger in the French craft; Aviator Jean Mira, pilot of the French machine; Gaetano B. S. King, and Heisterman Steward, passenger, on the English craft.

Pilot R. E. Duke of the English plane, was seriously injured. After an investigation the French line issued a communique in which it declared the French pilot was flying on the course, according to the rules, and could not be held responsible for the accident, which it attributes to the English pilot being out of course.

Jean Mira was a veteran of the war. He had flown over the Croix de Guerre and the Medaille Militaire. He had flown over the same London-Paris route for the last two years and was completely familiar with the lane in all kinds of weather.

Mr. Tale and his wife, who had been sightseeing in Paris, left the Hotel Moderne this morning with two Englishmen, who had had intended flying with them. At Le Bourget aerodrome, outside of Paris, the two English women were seen climbing into the plane.

LANE NOT NEW
The aerial express service between London and Paris was inaugurated in the spring of 1919 and has come to be regarded as one of the dependable means of transportation to the United States.

At first only patronized by travelers of an adventurous turn of mind who wanted to have their trip to the United States developed within the last two years, with the element of danger reduced to the minimum, into a steady daily route, the trip has made in a little more than two hours. At least half of the passengers have been women.

Formerly officials have frequently availed themselves of the air route to attend hastily-called meetings in London. The trip is now a routine official business, often returning the same day. King Albert and Queen Elizabeth of Belgium also have been passengers.

These luxurious air Pullmans carry only two persons in each compartment, and each has a comfortable chair. Each seat has a separate portfolio through which the passengers can view the landscape.

FARE MODERATE
The aerial fare has steadily decreased since large numbers of passengers have taken to this form of travel, and round-trip tickets cost about $40.

Another and incidental development of the air service has been the amount of merchandise carried. Each plane has a certain carrying capacity for goods, and Paris dressmakers frequently deliver gowns in London by this route. Recently a load of prime pigs was brought from London to Paris by air express, and many foodstuffs through the light States Grain Corporation was shipped today by President Harding.

Only once before today's collision had there been a fatal accident in this service. This occurred in December, 1920, more than a year after the service was inaugurated, when a big air liner, just as it was leaving Criklewood, near London, fouled a tree and crashed to the ground in flames, killing the pilot, his mechanic and two passengers.

COUNTRYMEN HONOR
MARSHAL OF FRANCE

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.)
SAN FRANCISCO, April 7.—Marshal Joffre's countrymen claimed him here today, the second day of his visit to San Francisco on his world tour.

During the morning the marshal visited the French Hospital, the French Bank and the French Library where he registered as a member of the French League.

At the hospital he walked from room to room, stroking the brows of some of the patients, shaking hands with others, and saluting all in his native tongue.

Members of the American Legion and other military organizations met the noted French leader at noon and entertained him at luncheon.

assignment. This provision was attacked by Senator Shields, Democrat, Tennessee, and others, but the Senate rejected an amendment by Shields to prohibit transfer of district judges without their consent.

In adding four judges to the bill's total, the Senate voted down numerous amendments for other judges, and to reduce the number authorized. It rejected, 35 to 24, an amendment by Senator Poindexter, Republican, Washington, for an extra judge for the Western Washington district.

RECALIS LANDIS CASE
An amendment by Senator Dial, Democrat, South Carolina, requiring judges to devote their time to the duties of their offices, and prohibiting their receipt of outside compensation, was adopted without a record vote. This was an echo of Senator Dial's criticism of former Federal Judge Landis after the latter's acceptance of a large salary as commissioner of organized baseball.

Efforts of Senator King, and Shields to reduce the number of judges proposed for Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, Missouri and California were defeated overwhelmingly.

A motion by Senator Shields to reduce the number of new judges to a half dozen was beaten, 45 to 13, and an amendment by Senator Harrison to require the President to make public the information of successful conditions for the bench was defeated, 41 to 21.

The bill's provision for assignment of judges to the various districts was attacked particularly by Senator Shields who said it might result in transferring judges to "sweet" districts.

He also charged that paid lobbyists of the National Anti-Saloon League were working among Senators in behalf of the bill.

Says Bergdoll
Must Answer
for His Crime

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.)
WASHINGTON, April 7.—Conviction that the slacker Bergdoll would be apprehended and returned to the United States within a year, was expressed by Representative Linberger, Republican, California, in urging the House today to increase by $100 the funds allowed Congress for bringing home from foreign countries persons charged with crime.

"One million doughboys are on Bergdoll's trail," said Mr. Linberger, "and Secretary Hughes is active in seeking his apprehension."

OLD YANKEE STAMPS
BRING HIGH PRICES

(BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
PARIS, April 7.—Six American postage stamps of the famous Baron Berrari collection, which is being sold at auction here today, brought an average of nearly $4,000 France.

The highest price paid was $5,000 for a 10-cent stamp, which was sold for an envelope marked "paid five cents" issued by the postmaster at Bodowen, N. H., in 1844, when postmasters issued local stamps.

WASHINGTON, April 7.—The joint resolution recently adopted by Congress authorizing a twenty-five-year extension for payment by Austria of the advance of $24,000,000 for purchase of flour and other foodstuffs through the light States Grain Corporation was signed today by President Harding.

Embassy officials here, however, feel that a suitable building and furnishings will cost twice that amount. They point out that the present Austrian Embassy is worth about $4,000,000.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

Gold Ore Center of Market Flurry

NEW YORK, April 7.—For the fifth consecutive session of the week, trading on the stock exchange today took on enormous proportions, transactions aggregating 1,650,000 shares and established yet another new record for almost two years.

The movement of prices was spotty at intervals as a result of realizing for profits in several of the issues, which made greatest gains in the preceding days of the week. This was most noticeable in such stocks as Baldwin and Studebaker, although net losses in both cases were limited to fractions.

Gulf States Steel was the dominant feature, gaining 10.5 points on steady buying when both exceeded the demand for any other stock. Crucible was used to drive the shorts and several of the less prominent steels, including Studebaker, Great Northern Ore, and Iron Products, made noteworthy gains.

Rails contributed largely to the market's constructive side, coarsely leading that division on the heavy accumulation of Lehigh Valley, Reading and Norfolk and Western. Secondary rails were featured by Rock Island at 2 1/2-3 and including Pacific Grangers and Cotton carriers, rose 1 to 3 points.

Local utilities made a responsive to the plan by which Interborough Rapid Transit, revalued and converted, Interborough Consolidated, Interborough Elevated, 7-8 and Brooklyn Rapid Transit, 3-4, and other advances being made by the bonds of those companies.

The course of money was helpful to stock dealings, all call loans holding at 4 1/2 per cent, this applying to renewals into the coming week. Time funds were quoted at 4-4 1/2 per cent for the long dates, but this was shaded to 4 1/2 per cent on prime collateral.

Foreign exchange reflected the more hopeful advice respecting the forthcoming Geneva conference. The dollar against the Swiss franc, the allied remittances showed moderate improvement as did also German, Dutch, Scandinavian and Spanish bills, the latter rising 12 points. Czechoslovakian rates hardened on the strength shown by the new bond issue.

Churches to Conduct Special Services Tomorrow; Pastors Announce Sermon Topics

In observance of the anniversary of Christ's triumph, set into motion by the churches of Los Angeles, have prepared special services for tomorrow, in honor of the Prince of Peace. Next Sunday the greatest victory in history—the victory of the Son of God over death—will be appropriately observed throughout Christendom. But between Palm Sunday and Easter comes Holy Week, when Christians everywhere, remembering the trials of Jesus during the days preceding His crucifixion and resurrection, will show their appreciation of these remarkable events by prayer and soft praise, touched by sorrow. Many of the Los Angeles churches have arranged in connection with the services the evening next week.

MAYOR CRYER ELECTED
ELDER OF CHURCH

Mayor Cryer was chosen as an elder, and Howard Robertson of the First and a Public Service of

The Board of Public Service Commissioners, was elected as a trustee of the Wilshire Presbyterian Church at the annual congregational meeting of that church yesterday. The other trustees elected are J. L. Van Norman, Glen H. Mitchell, George M. Sum-day, Daniel Boeer, A. L. Smith and Martin M. Levering. Mayor Cryer will be ordained at the services at the church tomorrow morning when Dr. John A. Eby will preach on "Faith and Fellowship." The evening meeting will be attended by members of the Western Avenue Business Association and addresses on "How to Have a Better Wilshire District" will be made by Dr. Eby and Frank M. Boring.

"During the last year our church has gained 100 members," said Dr. Eby yesterday. "More than $53,000 was paid out by the church for various purposes and the new church property, finished this year, shows a gross valuation of $331,205. The Bible School enrollment has risen from 275 to

"CONQUEST OF FEAR"

DEAN MAC CORMICK
Palm Sunday will be appropriately observed by the members of St. Paul's Pro-Cathedral tomorrow at the Scottish Rite Auditorium.

In the morning Dean William MacCormack will preach on "A Problem in Personality" and in the evening he will review Basil King's book, "The Conquest of Fear." This work has been highly recommended by Bishop Johnson as an able treatment of a very vital problem. Dean MacCormack announced yes-

A lesson-sermon on "Are Sin Disease and Death Real?" will be read at the 11 o'clock service tomorrow in each of the thirteen Christian Science churches and on

WELCOME NEW MEMBERS
IMMANUEL PRESBYTERIAN
More than 140 new members will be publicly welcomed into the Immanuel Presbyterian Church and a large number of infants will be baptized at the services at that time.

TO HONOR BUDDHA BIRTHDAY FESTIVAL

Rev. Aristide Malinverni, former priest and professor of Oriental history in an Italian Roman Catholic Seminary, but now a Presbyterian minister, will be the speaker at 7:30 p.m. at the evening, at Immanuel Church, 100 E. 11th St., on Tuesday, May 14. ## OIL ON THE WATER

One vessel leaving Los Angeles Harbor this week carried over 3,500,000 gallons of oil for the Orient. Between the four-power pact and the flood of American oil the Pacific should be a still waters indeed.

OUTSIDE THE BREASTWORKS

The administration no longer recognizes Hiram Johnson as an armed belligerent. He has been disarmed and is now awaiting internment. He may embarrass but not impede the administration.

WANT AND THE MAN

Amelia Bingham says that all men who pretend to take care of themselves and be dressy should wear corsets. She insists that they are healthful and at the same time give a man a waist-line—something he lost through careless living. When a corset goes to waist it stays.

BOBBED HAIR AND DIGNITY

If school-teachers bob their hair in New Jersey they are apt to lose their jobs. The powers that be declare that a woman with bobbed hair cannot be dignified and an undignified school-teacher is a liability rather than an asset. Ladies with bobbed hair will please give their opinion of the Jersey school officials in words of one syllable.

SHOWING SPEED

At Daytona Beach a Norwegian pilot drove an auto at the rate of 152 miles an hour for an hour or more. This seems to be the speed mark for wheeled things, but when we get to journeying by wireless there is no telling what marks will be hung up. Two centuries hence a man will merely press a button on his thought-concentrator and find himself at his desired location, even though it be in distant Alaska or the Antipodes.

THE DARK MAN

The clairvoyants and psychics have been having sessions with Mary Garden. One seeress said that the sweet singer would be married shortly to a man older than herself bearing the initials "M. L." It would seem that Marcus Loew didn't need this press-agent stuff and anyhow, Marcus isn't eligible. Or did the prophetic have in mind a spiritual reunion with Martin Luther, whose respect for women and song has been embalmied in verse?

THE MISSIONARY FIELD

The Chinese are beginning to knock on the American missionaries and in the Shanghai district there seems to be an organized press propaganda against the further extension of the Christian religion on Chinese soil. The Chinese papers in that territory are all inquiring why the Americans always try to impress their various creeds upon other peoples. They urge the people to stand by their own faith. The Chinese welcome the American hospital and various relief measures, but are not as hospitable to the missionary as in other days.

A JOINT MENACE

One of the leading packers of the country says the fact that people are gradually but persistently reducing the meat ration constitutes a menace to the country. Being menaced is a favorite adventure with the American people. Not a day goes by without some fresh menace being dug up to imperil their being. The fact that we are eating less hamburger than we were nine years ago creates a distinct menace—so far as the meat packers are concerned. The fact that children are learning to go barefooted is a distinct menace to the nation—if you leave it to the shoemakers. Possibly the brewer is sure that the country is menaced from the fact that we are drinking less booze than we were a few years back. If the American people are coming out the most diet the greatest menace is to the packers themselves. They have more at stake. There is a chance, however, for a joint debate.

RUNNING THE GOVERNMENT

The commission plan of government for small nations has been suggested by various authorities. Now the President of the republic of Paraguay is reported as seriously urging the adoption of the idea by his own people. The plan is to have a commission of nine men—three to be elected by the people every two years. The head of the commission would be the technical executive head and each of the commissioners would function as a Cabinet member, having authority over some bureau or department of the government. The commission plan should have passed the test of an experiment. It has been adopted by hundreds of municipalities. Some cities still love it and others have almost kissed it good-bye. It was supposed to be a money-saver, yet few towns are reporting a reduction in taxes. It all depends. The human equation remains. The plan presupposes competent and capable managers.

THE SILLY SEASON

The silly season seems to have arrived when otherwise fairly sensible men catch at moonbeams and spear at daylight night-mares.

Grave and apparently sane scientific men start to sleeping in haunted houses and listening for ghosts.

The Texas Congressmen start calling each other liars again.

Authors and artists disturb the even serenity of the literary colony of Carmel by fighting duels at dawn.

Senators from the tall timber of Nebraska begin to wall in tear-drenched troubles about the rights of the "common people" being in danger because the Chief Justice of the United States gets invited to parties at the homes of the rich.

Inasmuch as the Civil War is now some fifty-seven years back in the past, conditions do not seem promising for some agitated Congressional orator to start waving the bloody shirt again; but there's no telling. Yes, brethren, there's no telling.

We might have expected it from the Texas Congressmen. The statements from the cactus belt seem to have been seriously affected by a too-fixed focusing of the attention on the long wagging ears of the native jack rabbit. It's a bleak and lonely day in Congress when one or another of these flamboyant gentlemen is not believing about something. They shriek and thunder about being "red-blooded" and "avenging insults" in the most frightful manner, until we are all gooseflesh and creepy with a not unpleasurable anticipation of murder, massacre, duels, gun fights and sudden death. The day usually ends in Congress with the expectation of seeing the back yard of the Capitol strewn with the corpses of avenging Texas Congressmen; but nothing ever happens except to clutter up the Congressional Record with miscellaneous swear words and data on new and therefore unheard-of kinds of liars. Next to the roaring geyers of the Yellowstone, a Texas Congressman would appear to be one of the most amazing noise-producers to be found in the animal kingdom.

When the authors and the artists fight—now that's different. Pierce! Bloody! Although anticlimactic.

The outcome of the deadly battle between Harry Leon Wilson and his artist friend must have been a terrific shock to the literary colony of Carmel. It must have shaken their faith in all their own dramas. When these affairs take place in fiction the outraged husband always leaves his foe bleeding on the ground—although, in some cases, as befits a magnanimous victor, he helps the vanquished to his feet. The Harry Leon Wilson affair turned out all wrong, according to the best standards.

True to fiction form, he withdrew—mysterious of purpose—to Hawaii for some months; and the little, pale, literary man returned with muscles of iron, educated up on felts and right hooks and left jabs and right crosses and all the rest of it. In the approved way they met in the cold gray light of dawn near the sound of the sobbing surf. But alas for the canons of drama; alas for all our ideals; alas for anticlimaxes. The artist spoiled the whole story by vigorously bliffing the husband—he of the iron determination and the trained muscles—on the end of the nose.

And that was that.

As to Senator Norris's tearful quaver about Justice Taft dining in the homes of the rich—a wonderful man—Senator Norris!

For it must be wonderful to be able to get excited about stale old wheezes. But perhaps we bestow upon the statesman from Nebraska a meed of admiration that should not be his.

We have a private suspicion that the worthy statesman came into the Senate with one of his old speeches, dating from the Bull Moose days, by mistake, and had to go through with it. These things will happen.

Incidentally, it may be remarked that the announcement that Congressmen may begin sending out speeches by radiophone has filled life with new terrors.

A BEAUTIFUL EMISSARY

Where else but in America—the home, friendly, practical America that President Harding stands for—could have there been an incident so quaint and delightful as the return from Europe of Lillian Russell, representing the United States government, with one of the first constructive ideas that has been offered as a solution of our immigration problem.

Lillian Russell, looking back over the illustrious past, probably cannot claim to be the most experienced or perhaps the most adroit or the most wily emissary ever selected; but she can at least be certain that she is the most beautiful diplomat ever entrusted with a mission for any government.

Incidentally, she had more in the way of equipment to bring to the task than pulchritude. She is a woman of rare sense and judgment; she knows the world; she has sympathy, keen analytical perception and experience with life.

President Harding chose well when he selected her to go to Europe to find out what's to be done about our appalling immigration problem. It is safe to say that she will bring to conferences of Washington some penetrating, refreshing viewpoints.

Some of her published conclusions as to the best remedy in the premises might be called into question.

According to statements attributed to her in newspaper interviews, she recommends an immigration holiday of two to five years; she suggests that all prospective immigrants should be subjected to blood tests before embarking; that they should be required to be able to speak, read and write the English language and that "teachers" should be placed on board the incoming steamers to guide the footsteps of the newcomers, to see that they are directed into lines of activity and into regions where they are needed.

No doubt the immigration question never can be settled. It will always be here; it always has been here. Orators were tearing their hair about the same identical problems in the days of Imperial Rome, in the time of the Caesars.

It is obvious that America cannot draw a sacred circle around herself; shut up the doors; put the shutters on the front windows and forget the rest of the world. Since the beginning of time people have roved around from one country to another and thus has progress been brought about. In these days of rapid transportation and rapid exchange of ideas this tendency to move about has increased.

It is undoubtedly a fact, however, that a little vacation, as suggested by Lillian Russell, would be of benefit, especially during some seem dubious in value. It is a question whether the severe educational test she recommends would help solve the problem; whether it would not result in letting in the dangerous type of immigrant that we do not want and keeping out the earnest workers that, in moderate numbers, we do want.

However, this question is complex, difficult, and fraught with an entanglement of side issues. No one can sweep it away with a positive gesture as something decided and pigeon-holed and disposed of.

The lovely Lillian probably learned a lot that was interesting and valuable; and her subsequent remarks will be listened to with sympathetic attention.

WIRELESS WONDERS

Now we are promised a wireless electric light that will burn for three years or more with no expense or attention. It beats bottled sunshine. This is getting to be a wireless world and yet it is filling up with wires. Everything by radio will be the slogan of the future. When a man can tune up his bed springs and trap an ethereal wave carrying bursts of oratory and song he will not even bother about getting up Sunday morning.

GARDEN TIME

Mary Garden may either continue to run grand opera or accept an offer of $250,000 for a concert tour. In either event she will not suffer for sales or kisses. When the country goes Mary

MARKS OF A GOOD AMERICAN.

BY ROCKWELL D. HUNT.

The words of a thought-compelling leader ring out like the voice of a prophet when he writes: "The efficient disclosure of what America really means is the next supreme task of educators." The faithful, intelligent citizen may well be regarded as the final goal of our educational endeavor.

It is high time we Americans were seriously taking stock of the future; one of the greatest needs of our nation today is the need of a renaissance of the ideal of American citizenship. Nero is said to have fiddled while the Eternal City was being swept by conflagration; will our American master—public opinion—suffer himself to be carried into trifling forgetfulness by the jazz from clownish instruments while outlawry lifts its ugly head and stalks abroad?

It is a grave problem that confronts every thoughtful citizen: Is current history in city, state and nation commensurate with the high demands of present civilization? Are civic and social movements of the hour compatible with sound morality and enduring progress? Are the working ideals of our citizenry based upon righteous and eternal principles, or are they too often the expression of mere expediency or desire for sordid gain? These are searching and basic questions, and they are inescapable; on their issue hinges the issue of America's future.

Intelligence is a first mark of the good American. Denying this, democracy becomes a myth, the attempt at self-government utterly futile. Progressively efficient democracy is absolutely conditioned upon an ever-advancing intelligence of the average citizen. And yet it is not simply intelligence, but intelligence in the things of government—the sense of civic-mindedness—that is the prime requisite.

The wisecracker who disdains to participate in political activities does violence to his State's ideal by his very aloofness. The prosperous money-grubber, absorbed in his sordid gains, may be reputed a good man, but he is a bad citizen. The good citizen will know when the next election day falls, make an effort to understand its issues, be alert on great questions of the day that throb with human interest and press imperatively for settlement and embrace every opportunity to reemphasize the importance of his nation's place in the world-order of a new day.

Obedience to law must ever characterize the true American citizen. "To him that knoweth to do right, and doeth it not, to him it is sin." These words of Jesus may not have been uttered with chief emphasis on civic affairs, but they are decidedly pertinent.

The secret of our statutes is today a serious menace, lack of reverence for law is a national peril. What a far cry it is from the spirit of Socrates as he drank the hemlock.

It is not necessary to admit that American morals are decadent where we call attention to certain tendencies which, if unchecked, would speedily undermine the very foundations of our social and national life. It is the part of wisdom to focus attention upon them while it is yet possible to correct them. The good American will be an intelligent, law-abiding citizen, his feet always planted firmly on the rock of moral integrity. He will forswear double allegiance, rising above the narrow group to a just conception of America as a social order, and thus assisting his country to go on to its high and noble destiny.

All of the consistency, integrity and purpose that make the capacity for responsibility, before the power of wealth will respond to our demands.

It is true that the universal supply is at each man's command, but that command must be made with authority, and such authority is never acquired by an idle or a selfish wish. The universe is like a bank, and should you may be fool enough to go to a bank with an unreasonable demand and without the best of security, it does not follow that the bank will grant your request.

Money by the millions and by the ton awaits restless, idle and eager to be possessed. It is more anxious to find you than you are to find it, but it demands use, demands security. Its challenge is only to the operative, the functional and to a jealous guardian-ship. So long as there is one point in you where abuse and leakage are possible, the millions that are crying out for the touch of control must forever elude you.

Observations.

Who signs a mortgage sits up thinking.

When all girls think of no men, it's the millennium.

Easy street is always torn up for improvements.

Money has no virtue, but love has them all.—[Richmond Times-Dispatch.]

"We may as well give up trying to get into society," said Nervich in discouragement. "The barrier is insurmountable."

"Nonsense!" returned Mrs. Newrich. "We'll get over it in time."

"What! have we wings?" he expostulated.

"No, but our money has," said his wife.—[Boston Transcript.]

Tough on Congress.

The people have become so wise it is impossible to tax them without their knowing it. That is one big trouble of Congress.—[Buffalo Enquirer.]

THIS IS THE DAY

Henry Clay and Senator John Randolph of Virginia fought a duel near Georgetown in the year 1823. Four shots were fired. No casualties resulted. Clay's first bullet passed through the skirt of Randolph's coat, the second one went wide. Randolph fired his second shot straight up in the air. After that the statesmen shook hands and became firm friends.

The quarrel started over a debate in the Senate when Randolph called the government "a puritanical, diplomatic, black-legged administration." Clay, as Secretary of State, took this as a personal insult and issued a challenge.

Long have the folks been saying that the folks are getting better. But Spring shall show us.

With warm weather the folks are getting better. But Spring shall show us.

To get the folks better, we must get the folks better. But Spring shall show us.

That man who says that the folks are getting better. But Spring shall show us.

His word is the folks' word. But Spring shall show us.

(LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.)
PASADENA, April 7.—In honor of Appomattox Day the G.A.R. of Pasadena and other patriotic organizations of the city will celebrate with a patriotic rally tomorrow at Library Park. Dr. C. P. Colegrove, former president of the Upper Iowa University, is to be the orator of the day, giving an address on the meaning of Appomattox Day. Members of John F. Kennedy Post, the G.A.R., will have a prominent part on the program.

Funeral services for Robert Wood, prominent Pasadena banker who died yesterday at his residence in Pasadena, were held today. Mr. Wood was for years connected with the Interstate Trust and Banking Company in New Orleans. He was also president of the Texas Bank and Trust Company of Houston, Tex., and had been prominent politically in both Texas and Louisiana. He is survived by his widow, a son and daughter.

The dealers at their meeting made arrangements for two outings, one to be held at Camp Huntington with the Boy Scouts of Pasadena and the other at Catalina Island. Stuart W. (EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)
EL CENTRO, April 7.—El Centro Elks may be able to "listen in" on the Chicago Grand Opera Company's concert in Los Angeles next week without leaving their own clubroom over the Press office.

How?
Radiophone, of course!
Such is the plan of the local Elks Lodge in installing a radiophone net in its clubroom here. The net will have a radius of 1000 miles, it is said, and is being installed by the Southern Electric Company of El Centro. J. D. Adams has been active in making arrangements for the radiophone and said today it was expected to be installed by Monday evening. If the experiment proves satisfactory a program will be arranged for Elks to "listen in" on the grand opera concert in Los Angeles.

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)
IMPERIAL, April 7.—Asparagus by the carload load is leaving Imperial Valley daily for eastern markets, according to records on file at the Southern Pacific office here today. According to figures, asparagus shipments have averaged a carload a day since March 31, when the first carload of the season was shipped. Prior to that date shipments had been going out at fancy prices. However, asparagus is regarded by valley farmers as one of the surest and most valuable crops.

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)
SAN BERNARDINO, April 7.—Alexander Parker, aged recluse, who had for some years occupied a shack near the mouth of the Santa Ana Canyon, committed suicide today by blowing his head with a rifle. Parker was a member of Odd Fellows Lodge No. 123 of Los Angeles, and was formerly a resident of Monterey county, where he was a notary public, according to papers in his effects. His wife and daughter are said to have died recently.

be Kidnaped

(LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.)
REDLANDS, April 7.—The police here believe that some one is using the name of the Ku Klux Klan for a practical joke because of the following letter Mrs. Sarah Cervantes of High avenue found under her door this morning: "To Sarah Cervantes: You will be kidnaped by the KKK of Redlands on the twentieth, so watch your step and beware. The unknown by the letter."

The letter is written in pencil, and on the reverse side is the picture of a woman in the collar of a snake. The police say that the Ku Klux Klan here had nothing to do with the letter. Mrs. Cervantes is the wife of Harry Cervantes and has four children. Dr. J. H. Hayes of San Bernardino, acting as Grand Exalted Ruler, assisted by Harry Caldwell and Grand Exalted, installed the officers of Redlands lodge of Elks last night. At the meeting plans were also made for the annual Elks' show. It was reported that there was a gain in membership of about fifty during the year. The officers installed are: Dr. A. J. R. Shultz, Exalted Ruler; A. Macdonald, Exalted Exalted Ruler; W. L. Thorndike, Exalted Lecturing Knight; Ben Orban, Exalted Secretary; C. J. Tripp, Exalted Treasurer; William Yount, Inner Guard; Guy Stone, Tyler; W. Y. Watson, Trustee; F. G. Feraud, chaplain; H. R. Williamson, delegate to the grand lodge; William F. Boland, alternate.

Suicide Left
of His Plans

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)
POMONA, April 7.—Two notes written by William Russell Almond and found in his clothing clear up all but one of the mysteries surrounding the double killing of Almond and Russell yesterday.

The only remaining mystery is one which will never be solved. It will never be known whether Russell Almond was shot as he leaned over at work in her garden or while she was fleeing toward the gate from her crazed older brother, who fired shot after shot into her body.

The first note, addressed to the County Coroner, read: "I am so depressed in mind that I fear I may kill myself. I write this that no one else may be blamed for my action."

The second note was: "My sister is such an invalid and I am breaking down so fast, I think it best to end our lives. I write this that no one else may be blamed for my action."

Both notes were signed by Almond and neither was mailed. It is said that the notes were found in a box which should be found on his body. No inquest was held.

Calexico Leads in March Trade
Across Border

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)
CALEXICO, April 7.—Calexico led the twenty-fifth Customs District in exports, imports and cash collections for the month of March, according to figures made known today. This port of entry nosed out San Diego on cash collections by an item of $560. Of $154,225 worth of exports for the district for March, Calexico had $201,204, or considerably more than half of the total amount. In imports Calexico had $157,859 of a total of $641,779, or a gain of more than half. Tijuana came second with $23,423, mostly in horses brought in, and not products of the soil, as in the case of Calexico.

GLENDALE TO HAVE
SUPERB HOSPITAL

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)
GLENDALE, April 7.—C. E. Kimlin, business manager of the Glendale Sanatorium and Hospital, today made public the preliminary program for a new hospital building and sanatorium to be located on the property recently acquired by the institution on East Wilson avenue. The expenditure will be in the neighborhood of $250,000. When present plans are completed the institution will be second only to Battleground, he declared.

Attorney Bert P. Woodard resigned at the meeting of the County Council last night. Hartley B. Shaw, a former City Attorney, and James A. Hubbard, president of the Board of Trustees, was appointed in his stead.

The four men gave their names as Alphonse D. Mondeliv, Brouille Galindo, Jose Hernandez and Juan Jimenez. In default of $10,000 bail, the men were returned to the County Jail. The amount of the loot was today given as $2300, $2300 in currency, $1000 in jewelry, $1000 in bonds. Arcadians and Monroviaans have been aiding the officers in an unsuccessful search for the treasure.

MINE OWNER IS SHOT TO DEATHArgument Over Claims Ends
in SlayingDying Man Said He Waved Gun for EffectHowever, Opponent Took Him Seriously

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)
BAKERSFIELD, April 7.—Carlos E. Myers, prospector and mine owner, was fatally wounded near Johannesburg today in a fight with Oliver McDonald, a recent arrival in the Rand district from Patagonia, Wash., following an altercation over twelve mining claims owned by Myers on which McDonald had an option.

McDonald was placed under arrest by Constable John H. Mahood. According to reports received here, McDonald was shot by Myers, inflicting wounds in the right leg and chest. The wounded man was taken to Johannesburg, where he soon died.

"FOR EFFECT"

In the altercation, it was declared, Myers first brandished a shotgun, which he later said, was unloaded. The gun was drawn for effect, he said at the hospital. But McDonald drew a revolver and as Myers advanced on him fired a bullet into the mine owner's right leg. This did not stop Myers, however, and he kept coming, only to receive two shots in the chest, one of which pierced the lungs, according to physicians.

It was declared that McDonald had been outright one of the claims and had secured options on the others, but, according to Myers, did not live up to his agreement. Yesterday Myers leveled an attachment on McDonald's tools, an act which was resented by the latter. The shooting was the outcome.

James F. Griffin, Head of Prominent Family of West,
Ill Three Weeks

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)
BEAVERLY, April 7.—With having sold at $20 a ton and hard to find at that, there is a general scramble among ranchers to get their first cutting of alfalfa in and also to cut the barley as soon as the weather permits.

The demand for hay throughout Imperial Valley has been steadily increasing for the past three months. At the end of the year the $20 price came in and has remained. Such a figure cannot be obtained by shipment to Los Angeles as a rule, but the demand from Mexico due to a revival in planting of cotton and other farm products there has created a shortage in the valley that cannot be supplied for at least another month. Conditions may change then and the supply may slump a short, according to some of the ranchers. There is a greater acreage of barley this year than last year, and the low figure that ruled during the planting season. The crop is in fair shape and was one of the best of the season.

There also is a corresponding increase in demand for alfalfa.

Safe Cracking
Efforts Gain
Little Reward

Safe cracking isn't what it's cracked up to be anymore. Tegan spent a depressing, profitless Friday, it was revealed late yesterday, expending much effort in assaulting three safes and getting a meager $10 for their toll. It must have proved annoying to the safe-cracker, for the safe, or else, empty. The safe at the O. D. S. Printing Company, for instance, after being battered with the blow of a sledge hammer and clung obstinately to its combination, according to Joseph Silverman, proprietor. Then, at the office of the Rosenberg Oil Company, 2474 East Ninth street, the safe-blowers battered vainly at the combination, and in their disgust, upset files and furniture. Two watchmen in an adjoining room were not disturbed. J. M. Feldman, manager, reported the circumstances attendant upon robbing the Kohler Studio, 117 1/2 South Broadway, added the finishing touch of disappointment. The vegmen jimmied the door, opened the safe, jimmied the strong box and found only a watch. The sledge-hammer crew no doubt figured that at that rate a man might just as well be honest.

The men sustained cuts and bruises that sent them to the El Centro Hospital, where they are being treated by Dr. Brooks. The injuries are not serious. The cars were wrecked.

INQUIRY INTO KLAN DENIED
BY BORREE

"Examiner's" Statement is
Refuted by Adjutant-General of Militia

Adj.-Gen. Borree yesterday emphatically denied statements attributed to him by the Los Angeles Examiner concerning the recent use of the local National Guard armory by the Ku Klux Klan. In a formal statement issued regarding the incident he says in part:

"I did not make the trip to Los Angeles for the purpose of making a personal investigation of the Ku Klux Klan or any other Klan."

He explains that an organization obtained one of the armories for one month and at the expiration of the month their weekly meetings were discontinued.

"This matter was handled entirely by the commanding officer of the One Hundred and Sixtieth Infantry, who is in station at the armory, by authority of the Adjutant-General," he states.

Col. Walter P. Story, commander of the local infantry regiment, explained his part in the matter by a formal statement which included the following:

"In connection with a statement in a morning paper that Gen. Borree came to Los Angeles recently to inquire into the dealings of the Ku Klux Klan, I wish to state that it is erroneous."

"About two months ago a written request came into headquarters for the use of the ballroom of the armory for one night a week by the semi-military organization. This request was signed C. R. Isham, secretary, and gave no further evidence as to what it was."

"I instructed the Adjutant, who was with the regiment at that time, to give me a report upon the application, as is done in all cases. He reported favorably, and, as I found out later, issued a permit, not presenting it to me, but signing it himself."

"Upon finding that secret meetings were being held, which I must say were not drills, and the members were nothing excepting civilian clothes and conducted themselves in an orderly manner, I made a thorough investigation, with the result that the chief of the organization, who is a former veteran of the late war, called upon me."

"I laid the matter before him with the result that they are not using any portion of the armory. As these things were all settled some time ago the matter was never even discussed, let alone investigated by Gen. Borree during his recent visit."

James F. Griffin, whose three sons are prominent in the West, died yesterday afternoon at his home, 114 West Forty-third street, after an illness of three weeks. He leaves a widow and his sons, John A. Griffin, city engineer of Los Angeles; James B. Griffin, chief engineer of the American Traction Corporation, and Frank Griffin, a banker, of Portland, Or. He also leaves seven grandchildren.

Mr. Griffin was born eighty-seven years ago in Methuen, Mass. He was a veteran of the Civil War. He lived many years at Topeka, Kan., where he was a banker, treasurer of Washburn College, and a deacon of the First Congregational church. He came here about seven years ago. His widow was Miss Hetty R. Parsons of the Massachusetts family.

BATTLE CONTINUES
OVER CONFESSIONS

DETECTIVES AND TURNKEYS CALLED AS WITNESSES IN MURDER CASE

The fight for the introduction of the purported confession of Calvin Rowell and James Wheaton, who are on trial before a jury in Judge Parker's court on charges of killing Police Constable R. H. Brown, continued yesterday with the prosecution endeavoring to show that the statements were made voluntarily.

To offset the testimony of Rowell and Wheaton that they had been third-degreed into signing confessions, the prosecution called several attaches of the detective bureau and the County Jail to the stand. Among them were R. Radcliff and A. R. Kallmayer, of the bureau of identification; J. M. Vaines and Frank G. Katzenberger, turnkeys at the County Jail, and Detectives Harry C. Hekok, H. J. Raymond and J. E. Evers.

All testified that the prisoners had been accorded the best of treatment, that all statements they made were free and voluntary, and that they had not been beaten or subjected to harsh treatment of any kind during their incarceration.

HOLD LETTER CARRIER

Postal Inspectors Discant "Great Conspiracy" Story

D. H. Murdock, a young substitute letter carrier, was taken into custody yesterday on the charge of robbing the mail where he was employed at Station D, Vermont, and Jefferson avenues. The boy had been in the employ of the postoffice but a short time and the amount of his pecuniary gains was less than $25.

Postal inspectors Webster and Cellace, who had the case under investigation, said there was not the slightest truth in the sensational publication that Murdock was in a "gigantic conspiracy" to rob the mails. "He has a wife and baby," said Webster, "and it was stupid."

publish a menu and recipes two weeks ago, thanks to you for them, but she wants a cocktail sauce that she can use with shrimps, oysters, clams or crabs. She says that who did not mean a liquor cocktail when she requested a cocktail before 11 a.m. Glad she does not use cocktails of that kind. For the shrimp, oyster or clam cocktail, make a sauce by mixing one cup of tomato ketchup with one tablespoon of Worcestershire sauce, two tablespoons of grated horseradish, six drops of tobacco sauce, juice of one lemon, two teaspoons of vinegar and a seasoning of salt. Place this mixture in a glass bowl and thoroughly chill in the ice box before using.

ICE-BOX CAKE The same writer asks for a recipe for ice-box cake. Some weeks ago we published a recipe for this cake, and as I do not repeat recipes, I will give another recipe for this same cake. Pour one cup of hot milk over two tablespoons of ground coffee and let stand ten minutes. Mix in a double boiler half a cup of sugar, one-eighth of a teaspoon of salt, and the yolks of three eggs, strain into this the warm coffee and milk, stir over the fire until thick and smooth, remove from the fire and while warm add the stiffly beaten whites of the egg. Cover the bottom of a mold with halves of lady fingers, cover these with a layer of the custard which has been flavored with one teaspoon of vanilla. Add another layer of lady fingers and another layer of the custard and continue in this way until the mold is full, having the last layer of lady fingers. Place in an ice box and let stand twenty-four hours. When ready to serve unmold on a cold platter and cover with whipped cream, to each cup of cream used add while whipping half a cup of sugar and half a teaspoon of lemon extract. Sprinkle over the whipped cream finely chopped disintegrator nuts. This is a cheaper ice-box cake than the one given some weeks ago.

MOCHA CAKE S.J.W., city, requests a recipe for mocha cake with chocolate filling. Layer cake as a rule takes their name from the filling used; that is a mocha cake would be made with a mocha filling and a chocolate cake with a chocolate filling, but as I always try to please I will give a mocha cake with a chocolate filling. For the cake beat the yolks of three eggs until light and lemon colored, beat into them one cup of sugar and beat well. Sift one cup of flour with one teaspoon of baking powder and one-quarter of a teaspoon of salt and add to the egg mixture with two tablespoons of hot coffee and the stiffly beaten whites of three eggs, one tablespoon of lemon juice. Bake in three layers in a medium hot oven. When cool spread between the layers and cover the top and side with chocolate filling.

CHOCOLATE FILLING Melt four squares of chocolate in a double boiler and stir into them three tablespoons of milk, three-quarters of a cup of sugar, two teaspoons of butter, one beaten egg and one-quarter of a teaspoon of salt and stir until it is thick. Remove from the fire, cool and add one teaspoon of vanilla. After spreading the cake sprinkle over all the top and sides one cup of shredded cocoanuts.

MACAROONS E.V.D., city, would like to know how to make macaroons and wants to know how to make marzipan and what it is used for. To make the macaroons mix one cup almond paste with one cup of powdered sugar until it is fine and malleable. Add three egg whites, one at a time, and mix each in thoroughly. Add half a teaspoon of almond extract and make into small mounds on a paper lined and buttered baking sheet. Bake in a very slow oven one hour. Remove the paper on taking from the oven.

MARZIPAN Marzipan has many uses and is made in different ways. One of the most popular marzipan pastes is used for covering tarts. This is made by mixing two cups of flour with two tablespoons of sugar, half a cup of butter and when well mixed add two egg yolks and two tablespoons of cold water; work to a smooth firm dough and place in the ice box to harden. Roll out very thin and line a spring form with it. Blanch, dry, and grate one pound of almonds and mix with them two and a third cups of powdered sugar and the juice of two lemons. Place this mixture in a double boiler and stir until it is hot, then add the stiffly beaten whites of eight eggs. Pour this mixture into the lined form, cover with strips of pastry and bake in a slow oven one hour. Dust with powdered sugar and garnish with chopped cherries. Marzipan paste for the molding small fruits and making small fancy forms is made by making a stiff, firm paste with one pound of almond paste, two egg whites, four tablespoons of glucose or corn syrup and sufficient powdered sugar to make it firm enough to mold. This paste may be cut and molded into any form; for fruits the coloring is worked into the paste.

SCOTCH TEA CAKES R.L.J., Long Beach, wants a recipe for Scotch tea cakes as served in a Washington tea-room. Never had the place mentioned but will give her my recipe. Rub into four cups of flour one and a half cups of butter, when fine and malleable add two and a quarter cups of powdered sugar and one tablespoon of powdered three well-beaten eggs. Roll out on a floured board one quarter inch thick. Cut in fancy shapes or small rounds and bake in a quick oven.

DINNER MENU K.M.L., city has a new housekeeper and has had very good success with the recipes and menus published in this column and requests a menu with a roast of lamb. If she will try the following, am sure her dinner will be as complete a success as her Christmas dinner was. Crab Cocktail, St. Francis, Celery Cakes, Brie Cheese, Shoulder of Lamb, Country Style Green Peas with Mint, Roasts of Lamb, Minced Dressing, Fried Potatoes, Green Beans, Coffee or Punch.

CRAB COCKTAIL Make a sauce of one cup of tomato ketchup, two tablespoons of Worcestershire sauce, two tablespoons of tarragon vinegar and a seasoning of salt and paprika. Fill the cocktail glasses two-thirds full of large pieces of crab meat or shrimp and fill the glasses with the sauce. Place a slice of lemon on each glass.

PROTEST WORK HOURS

Complaints Women on Duty More Than Eight Hours Are Filed

Eleven complaints of violations of the eight-hour labor law for women were filed in the local office of the State Labor Bureau in March, according to the monthly report of that office, just compiled. Four cases in which children under the legal age of 16 were employed in a laboring capacity without permits from the Board of Education, were reported to the bureau during the month. Decisions in these cases are still pending.

In 329 instances settlement in full for claims of wage earners, previously filed with the labor office, was effected. A total amount of $14,589 in wages due was represented in the 274 complaints of unpaid workers listed with the deputy commissioner. Of this sum, $8792 was collected from employers.

CAKE FILLING

J.D.H. Redondo, asks for a cake filling made with eggs, sugar and fruit. The only filling that I know of that will fit the directions she gives is made by mixing one cup of sugar with three tablespoons of flour, the rind and juice of one lemon and two well-beaten eggs; pour this mixture into saucepan in which have been melted two tablespoons of butter, add four tablespoons of hot water and stir until thick. Add half a cup of chopped figs or raisins and half a cup of chopped almonds. Cool and spread between layers of cake.

DATE TARTS

The same writer asks for a recipe for date tarts as served at one of the tea-rooms. Have never visited this tea-room but would suggest that she use the date pie mixture to fill baked tart shells. This is made by mixing two tablespoons of sugar with three-quarters of a cup of flour and half a teaspoon of salt. When well-blended stir in half a cup of cold milk and cook in a double boiler for fifteen minutes. Add one pound of stoned and chopped dates and the beaten yolks of two eggs and cook for two minutes, stirring constantly. Add one tablespoon of lemon juice.

NICOISE DRESSING

Rub the yolks of two hard-boiled eggs through a sieve and add to them one quarter of a teaspoon of French mustard, one teaspoon of chopped parsley, one tablespoon of chopped olives and a teaspoon of chopped chives. Mix well and work in slowly one cup of French dressing. This dressing is good on any green salad.

FIG PUDDING

CHICKEN PUFFS

C.R.E. Banning, asks for recipe for cream puffs. Place in a saucepan one cup of water and one-third of a cup of butter and bring to a boil. Sift one cup of flour with one-quarter of a teaspoon of salt and stir into the boiling water all at once and beat with a wire until the mixture leaves the sides of the pan. Remove from the fire and cool slightly. Add three eggs one at a time, beating until the mixture is smooth and glossy. Let stand for half an hour and then drop from the end of a spoon onto a greased pan.

DIRECTOR'S WIFE FREED

Mrs. Ruth E. Mason-Hopper was granted a divorce from E. Harold Mason-Hopper, cinema director, by Judge Hahn yesterday. A property settlement was made out of court under which Mr. Mason agrees to pay his wife $470 a month alimony, and $100 a month for the support of their minor child.

Mrs. Mason testified that her husband instructed the house servants to ignore her orders, which caused her mental suffering. She said she was jealous of her: "would pick me to pieces in front of the servants," used profanity and abused her by words. Once he caused her to get out of bed at night, go with him to the garage where he started their car, but she became frightened and ran to the home of her mother, she testified. Attorney Follette represented Mrs. Mason. John L. Richardson was counsel for the latter, who was not present in court.

JESUS HELD ONLY HOPE OF MANKIND

World Problems Baffle Science, Pastor Declares at Lenten Service

Emphasizing the futility of all efforts to solve the problems of the world through science, government or material advancement, Coadjutor Bishop Stevens of the Episcopal Diocese of Los Angeles, told his audience at the Morosco Theater yesterday that nothing short of the religion of Jesus will ever bring sanity, health and true wealth to the human race.

"We are tempted, at times, to imagine that the world's salvation might be achieved at one sweep if a sufficient amount of human energy and financial backing could be obtained to add impetus to a given amount of religious zeal," said Bishop Stevens. "That is a fallacy. Our Lord knew that the world's redemption could not be accomplished in this manner. Had He accepted the purple of the Caesars, the world would have been a different place. He would have set up the establishment of the universal kingdom of love and truth everlasting."

"God has given us a good world to live in, but He has left it for us to enoble life by adding the ideal to the real, by transcending material conditions of every description and recognizing the spirit in which all men and things exist. It is the business of the church to bring real sanity, health and happiness to humanity. The problems of society are too deep to be solved by fanaticism and superficial thinkers. What is the solution, according to many of our scholarly materials and scientific thinkers? Some of them say there is no solution, except through evolution; others declare that social redemption depends upon the right physical conditions and the proper adjustment of production and distribution of the products of labor; still others tell us that social improvement is a matter of education and of the proper economic organization of society. Recently the world has had sufficient illustration of the weakness of these materialistic theories."

"Human progress can never be achieved through any materialistic process. It can be accomplished only through the response of humanity to Divinity, through the interaction of man's will with God's will, through the co-operation of the children of men with their Almighty Father."

"The world will not be redeemed by man-made institutions and organizations but through the prayers and works of the faithful who can visualize a world redeemed and labor for the realization of their ideal," said the Bishop.

"In the United States there are 24,000,000 young men and women under 25 years of age who are receiving no religious guidance; there are 15,000,000 children who never attend Sunday school and there are 60,000,000 people who are not affiliated with any religious organization. These statistics stand as a challenge to the church to prove her faith in, and seal for Christian education."

WHEN we realize that the greater part of the daily diet of children is of bread, we feel more keenly responsibility as bakers.
It may be either a mere "filler" or most nourishing of all foods, depending upon the baker's knowledge of the materials he uses, and his understanding of his duty to the public.
It offers absolute certainty of purity and of scientific baking of the baker's art.

PLAN DEMONSTRATION
The sets included in the photograph taken yesterday will be actually demonstrated at Exposition Park tomorrow. The boys will erect their own receiving antenna and make all the necessary hook-ups to put their instruments in operation.
"What you see here is but a small beginning of a splendid new field of research that is being adopted in the public schools and which gives every promise of becoming an important branch of courses in science," said Prof. Thistlewhite yesterday.
The boys are tremendously enthusiastic over their work in radio, so much so, in fact, that when asked how much their respective instruments actually cost them in material, one of them answered, "We haven't got time to figure that, for we were racing to see who would get his set finished first." In this connection it is suggested, however, that radio enthusiasts who undertake to build sets should keep an accurate cost account, as this information will prove of interest in future development of their radio interest.
In the Coliseum at Chicago from October 14 to October 22, will be held the first annual Radio Show, the big official show to be given each year. The date has been set ahead for the purpose of allowing the manufacturers to complete the many improvements in design and construction now being perfected and to catch up on deliveries. The radio shows that have been held at other cities have been pronounced successes in general public interest and attendance.
At New York the public was turned away by thousands every day during the show at the Pennsylvania Hotel. The nationwide ever-growing interest in radio has amply demonstrated that only the largest exhibition buildings are adequate to properly handle the enormous crowds whose enthusiasm in this new science has placed radio exhibitions on a plane with the big national automobile shows. At the Coliseum in October, there will be ample space for all the exhibitors and the public as well.

BUSINESS IN EAST POOR
Ben Beckman, who returned yesterday from a business trip to the East, said business is below the average in the cities he visited and as a consequence jobbers and manufacturers are eager to sell at reduced prices. Mr. Beckman recently has completed his new home at 219 Irving Boulevard and he and Mrs. Beckman will give a house-warming tomorrow.

LESSON NO. 8
By V. H. Benioff
Some time ago Thomas A. Edison made the discovery that if a metal wire be placed inside of an incandescent light bulb the wire becomes charged negatively. The phenomenon remained an unexplained curiosity until the work of Richardson of England regarding the electrical behavior of hot bodies demonstrated that this was a result of what he called thermionic emission.
In the following paragraphs we shall proceed to give a simple exposition of this interesting phenomenon as well as some of its practical applications. The Tungar and Kenotron rectifier tubes, thus leading up to the three-element vacuum tube or audion which will be discussed tomorrow. It would be well to note that here again is a demonstration of the practical value of the investigation and research in the realm of pure science. Richardson himself probably never dreamed that his researches were leading him to the discovery and perfection of such an exceedingly useful instrument as the audion finally turned out to be.
It will be remembered that in every piece of metal there is a great number of negatively charged particles of electricity. At ordinary temperatures these electrons move about in all directions inside the metal with an average speed of about thirty-five miles per second. As the temperature rises the average speed is less and at higher temperatures it is greater. Now if the temperature be raised sufficiently the speed of the electrons will become so great that a number of them will fly away from the surface of the metal. If the metal is under ordinary atmospheric pressure the escaping electrons will collide with the molecules of the air and thus prevent it from leaving the metal.
MANY ESCAPE
When the metal is placed in a vacuum from which the air has been exhausted the electrons will find no obstructions and hence a large number will escape. This action will not go on indefinitely, for we have seen that when a body has less than its normal number of electrons it becomes positively charged and, in consequence

As the temperature rises the average speed is less and at higher temperatures it is greater. Now if the temperature be raised sufficiently the speed of the electrons will become so great that a number of them will fly away from the surface of the metal. If the metal is under ordinary atmospheric pressure the escaping electrons will collide with the molecules of the air and thus prevent it from leaving the metal.
MANY ESCAPE
When the metal is placed in a vacuum from which the air has been exhausted the electrons will find no obstructions and hence a large number will escape. This action will not go on indefinitely, for we have seen that when a body has less than its normal number of electrons it becomes positively charged and, in consequence

TUBE INVERTED
Working on the principles we have just described Fleming in 1905 invented the two-electrode vacuum tube. For the cathode he used a fine wire connected at its ends to a battery. The current from this battery heated the wire to incandescence, thus causing it to emit electrons. The anode was formed of a thin sheet of metal surrounding the cathode or filament. Both the cathode and anode were placed in a glass tube which was exhausted of air to a very high degree. It will be remembered from Lesson No. 2 that in order to make the high frequency oscillations in receiving antenna audible, it is necessary to rectify them with some form of a detector. Fleming used his two-element valve to accomplish this service. If the valve is placed in the radio circuit in the place of the radio rectifier, current will flow through it from filament to anode or plate only when the plate is positively charged and when the plate is negatively charged the current will be stopped. In this way the two-element valve can be used in place of a crystal rectifier. In this form, however, it is not very much more sensitive than the crystal. Two-element valves have been constructed for rectifying large alternating currents of high voltages and these are known as Kenotrons.
The familiar Tungar rectifier, which is now quite commonly used as a rectifier of the ordinary household type, for the purpose of charging storage batteries, is essentially a two-element valve. In addition to the filament and plate, however, it contains a small amount of the inert gas Argon. This complicates the action somewhat, but results in a much greater current flowing through the tube. Tomorrow we will begin a discussion of the three-element vacuum tube or audion.

flavor
Flavor is everything in chocolate. Yet flavor is a spirited, "runaway" thing. Constant "watch" must be held over it. So much do we think of the flavor of Ghirardelli's Ground Chocolate that not only do we watch it carefully in the blending—but we pack it only in cans, to safeguard it every step of the way.
Say "Ghirardelli" to your grocer—and get the chocolate-in-the-tin that protects and preserves its flavor until the last spoonful is used.

or than the conductive coupled set shown.
E. B. Los Angeles: Is it possible to eliminate interference with a broadcast reception using a crystal-receiving set?
Answer: Interference cannot be satisfactorily eliminated with a crystal set. If you use a loose coupler the difficulty may be lessened by separating the primary and secondary coils as far apart as possible.
G. S. Santa Ana: What is the operating life of an audion?
Answer: The normal operating life of a radiotube or audion receiving tube is about 1500 hours. If the filament temperature is run too high the life may be greatly reduced; on the other hand, a decrease of filament temperature will greatly increase the life of the tube.
F. H. Los Angeles: What is the greatest distance radio telephone messages have been sent?
Answer: The greatest distance that radio telephone messages have been heard was from Washington, D. C., to Honolulu.
L. T. Hollywood: What size rheostat should I use to control the filament current in a Cunningham detector tube?
Answer: You will require a six ohm rheostat capable of carrying one and one-half amperes continuously.
M. J. H. city: Cannot promise anything definite because of the condition of the radio instrument market. Refer you to list of dealers in the Times of April 1, section 2, page 2, column 1.
K. D. Ontario: Not satisfactory for receiver, use storage battery and charge it with 32-volt system.
